3. Client's Responsibility for Direct Visa Application

By signing this disclaimer, the client acknowledges and agrees that:

1. The client was informed of and offered the services of a Regulated Canadian Immigration Consultant (RCIC) by Adansi Travels and has voluntarily chosen to decline this offer and handle their Canadian visa application independently and directly.
2. The client is solely responsible for reviewing, completing, verifying, and submitting all visa application forms and supporting documents accurately and on time.

4. Important Caution to Clients

Clients are strongly advised to note the following:

- All information submitted in a Canadian visa application must be truthful and accurate. Misrepresentation — including failure to disclose the involvement of a third party in preparing an application — may result in a visa refusal and a 5-year entry ban to Canada.
- If you received assistance in preparing your application from any person or organisation other than yourself or a regulated consultant, you are required to disclose this on the application form.
- If you prefer to have your application handled by a regulated professional, Adansi Travels can refer you to a licensed RCIC firm, at your own cost and arrangement.

5. Limitation of Liability

Adansi Travels shall not be held liable for any direct, indirect, or consequential loss suffered by the client as a result of a Canadian visa refusal, processing delay, entry ban, or any other immigration outcome. The client's travel package fees paid to Adansi Travels are for travel logistics services only and are non-refundable in the event of a visa refusal, except as provided under the standard Adansi Travels' refund and cancellation policy.
